

I am going back to school

I have been learning at home with my family but on Wednesday 9th September I get to go back to school.

School will look different but this is ok.

I may be feeling lots of different emotions about going back to school, this is normal and it is ok to feel like this.

My teachers and grown-ups at school are excited to see me and are ready to help me.

I will feel happy and safe when I am back at school.

Being back at school will be lots of fun!
