

New light on Russell Drive

First time allowed out for what seems like an eternity and the newborns see the outside world for the first time.

Front doors swing open and positive smiles leave their dungeons. Families step outside into the unfamiliar surroundings.

Down the street more unfamiliar faces emerge like dominoes. Gardens lite up and come alive.

~~There~~ The air smells new and fresh. no longer restricted by masks. There's a great ray of relief

Neighbors young and old share stories and tales whilst drinking tea and a biscuit or two.

Dogs bound around their now lively street, cats observe and spy on some new people.

~~or~~ Grandparents embrace an unfamiliar warmth.

We are

smiles and positivity is what's kept us ~~going~~ going. We are hope, we are back.
