

Natural Art

How can you make natural art?

Natural art is made by using materials that are found in your environment, which means it's very good for the environment. This style can be trickier than other styles of art because you can't mix and create colours, you have to use what is around you. You can see examples above how the artists have thoughts about colour and pattern.

Famous Artist

Andy Goldsworthy is a British artists. He is called a sculptor. This is someone who makes 3D art work. He uses nature in his art because he aims to encourage more people to take notice of what is around them. It also helps people see the effects to nature over time.

Example Questions

1. What is natural art?
2. What makes natural art trickier than other types of art?
3. What is a sculptor?
4. Why does Andy Goldsworthy use natural materials in his art?

Challenge

Can you create your own natural piece of art work only using materials that you have found in your garden? Take a photograph to showcase your work.

